

International Year of Rangelands & Pastoralists 2026

Stories of Collaborative Conservation on Arizona Rangelands

Community Groups Meeting
Today's Challenges

Thursday, November 6th, 2025
6:00 — 8:30 pm

This program will include presentations by members of the Altar Valley Conservation Alliance, Malpai Borderlands Group, historical Arizona ranches and Diablo Trust followed by a reception in the sculpture garden. Come support this amazing group of innovative rangeland managers!

Sign Up Now at westernspirit.org/project/iyrp/
or scan below

How Is IYRP 2026 Specifically Relevant to Arizona?

Rangelands in Arizona are important for livestock production, wildlife habitat, and recreational activities. They are valuable sources of clean water, fresh air, open space, and renewable and extractive energy resources. Because rangelands comprise a significant amount of the Arizona landscape, the importance of the ecosystem services they provide should not be underestimated. However, rangelands are increasingly being impacted by issues of land succession, drought, wildfire, and invasive species which results in the decline of rangeland conditions, and their ability to support the multiple uses we expect from them.

For more information go to iyrp.info and
iyrp.info/north-america.

Western Spirit
SCOTTSDALE'S MUSEUM OF THE WEST